The course will focus on cognitive development issues in infancy.

Lectures will be held regularly. A student who misses more than two sessions during the semester will be required to take a special approval exam.

The grade will be determined based on a final exam that will include course materials and reading materials.

Readings:

---

¹ To be found on the web page of Prof. A. Meltzoff, University of Washington, Institute for Learning and Brain Sciences.

² To be found on the web page of Prof. S. Waxman, Psychology Department, Northwestern University.